New Wave Technologies Limited's Experience and Expertise

New Wave Technologies Ltd (NWT) is a leading technology solutions provider in Uganda. Our focus is utilizing technology to provide convergence strategies that improve process efficiencies, infrastructure and other critical business operations. We develop bespoke websites, web and mobile software solutions as well as enterprise in Software as a Service (SaaS).

Our Organizational Capability

We are a properly registered limited liability company offering services directly to our clients. We have extensive project management skills and facilities as evidenced by the range of projects executed.

Our team has a wide-ranging experience in business, information and communications technology, project management, designing, art direction, programming, systems administration, database design, and multimedia programming for Sub Saharan governments, companies, NGOs, SMEs and public entities.

We also have expertise in leveraging on existing Internet and mobile technologies to provide cost effective and rapidly developed web and application solutions design; we offer highly scalable problem specific software and solutions which enable organizations to achieve consistent high-quality results. We view each customer as unique, with individual business goals, budget requirements, time constraints and resources. We offer choices from an array of customized solutions that best fit each business need.

Our Project Management Approach

Our software development standards involve comprehensive documentation and testing prior to completion of any project. Our quality standards are evidenced by the quality of our completed projects. We enable our clients' success by collaborating with them to envision, design and deliver technology-based business solutions that help them achieve their goals and sustain success. We work to help them realize their vision.

Our mission is to help clients achieve their business objectives by providing them with outstanding technology solutions. Our aim is to help our clientele create, build and maintain innovative, reliable and cost-effective software solutions and meet their growing needs through the rapid deployment of new communication services.

Service excellence is our number one goal, the critical element for maintaining long-term beneficial relationships with our clients. We deliver precision thinking and relentless execution to drive clients' image and corporate web-presence transformation. As an experienced provider of customized software and web solutions, we know that a client's involvement in the project at every stage is fundamental for the success of a project.
